PAT McMAHON CLAIMS NOTIC MARATHON

New Orleans, La., Feb. 21- Irish Olympian Pat McMahon raced to a big win in the Sixth Annual Mardi Gras Marathon sponsored by the New Orleans Track Club as heavy weather and high temperatures cut down the starting field by better than half before the finish of the race. McMahon posted a 2:27:28.9 to easily outdistance second place finisher Phil Camp (2:43:48.2) of the Pensacola Junior College TC, but failed in his predicted sub-2:13:00 effort.

"I felt ready for a performance in the two hour and 12 minute range, but by race day I knew the humidity would doom any chance of a good time," said the Boston AA barrier.

First prep barrier across the line was local runner Winslow Chadwick of Newman High in tenth place with a 3:08:10 clocking.

First lassie to finish was Terry Stranek of the Trapper Nordic Club of Houston with a 4:28:48 mark.

Camp, by being the first American across the finish line, qualified for the Pan-American Games trial in Eugene, Oregon, this summer. The race had been designated by the LDR & RR Comm. of the National AAU as one of the six regional qualifying meets.

Both McMahon and Camp called the race "one of the hardest races they had run in years." The wind-torn lake Postchartrain race course and unreasonable warm spell caused only 39 competitors out of the 78-man field to finish.

JOGGER'S CORNER by Frank Greenberg

Jog

I spent my time in Nassau, the Bahamas, pointing toward Boston. Now, when this guy points, as opposed to road runner, boy, that's a horse. of some motion, a way of a different color.

Which reminds me of my left ankle, which is bright blue. Seems that I was jogging on East Bay Street, passing these walled-in mansions by the sea, each with a round convex mirror at the street to pick up traffic before one would proceed. I proceeded to almost fall on my fancy green sweat pants as I try to maneuver to pick up my image in the mirror. Some image to the walking exists on the other side of the street, which soon becomes my side also as I stumble across the street looking for my balance. I eventually find same, and try to establish

When I jog, I say hello to everyone that I can make contact with, and I wave to all kids, regardless. He it really pays off (not to be confused with the island. too payoff, where I learned to take another type fall.

The response to my greetings on the morning jogs with British accent, which makes them both strikingly delayed in comprehension. Simple ones are: "keep it (accent on sentence's end)... "lovely day" (not sure what they were trying to tell me)... "mohrning sur" (class pers are recognized anywhere!)

My wearing apparel also attracts them. First, the cotton shirt. I wear it because it shows sweat early on the right spots and gives one the professional athlete look. My shoes are lightly padded for shock absorption. My best, the faded green sweat pants. Hardest to take has something to do about a question about the usage of wearing pajama bottoms in the morning Lord.

Jogging the first day when accustomed to winter, and a warm climate is invigorating and brings perspiration early. Funny, the last part of the long jogs has no the in the winter of hot showers. Here it is, one day here, I'm back to ice tea again. Like when everybody on the block automatically knew to bring the football and leave home the gloves.

Anyway, the four days that I spend include two-a-day jogs, and I really feel terrific and very ready for those joggers at Boston. Maybe not the six million that the National Jogging Association say exist, but some of

By the way, that Association is trying to look them all up, so if you happen to see any of them lost, or if they answer to about anything, let me or the N. J. A. know, vice versa.

Anyway, I really do plan to cover this event and to report the finishing order and times of those joggers at Boston in the two mile jog on Patriot's Day. This jog is to help focus attention on jogging. Didn't know that you were blurred, eh? Why not, my wife says that I'm impolite point toward Boston anyway.

beginning to get more College coaches involved in Long Distance Running Promotion, as evidenced by our May then Meet Directors. We have others who are beginning to conduct road races after their Cross Country seasons, and also in the summer time. For many years College coaches have been very slow to become involved in these programs. These programs are going to receive more emphasis since the NCAA is going to put a Marathon Championship in their T&F Program.

83rd ANNUAL NATIONAL AAU T&F CHAMPIONSHIPS
New York, Friday, February 26, 1971

by Browning Ross

Persuasive Dave Romansky, a one hour, non-stop talker on the telephone, finally convinced my wife and her "easily led" (when it comes to track meets) husband that perhaps a trip to New York would be worth-while, if only to see what Dave considered a battle ranking on a par with the Alt-Frazier--big Dave vs. Ron Laird in the mile walk! I must admit the walk was something else! Big Dave missed out on his bid for a third straight national indoor title and he was bitter to say the least, in fact, I stayed clear of him after the race in favor of sitting in on former coach Jumbo Elliott's efforts to continue his track dynasty at Villanova with young Dave Merrick from Lincoln Way High School in New Lenox, Illinois, as, hopefully, his new distance ace. (Apparently he was successful, as the Phila. papers stated a few days later that the 13:38.2 three miler had returned a letter of intent--if they mean anything?)

Two hours after the mile walk, the big redhead still was insisting, he never would compete again.

"I don't want any part of this any more," Romansky said. "This may have been my last race. (Hopefully he'll have two or three races under his belt by the time you read this article) I think I'll stick to coaching my young girls track team." Dave was waved off the track by official Bill Chisholm of California as he tried to hold off a bid on the turn by eventual winner Laird. Laird and Romansky took turns leading the race through the first 5 laps as the crowd roared its approval instead of laughing like hell at them as they used to do. The battle became bitter going into the 9th lap and as Romansky picked up speed on the turn to hold off Laird, the official pointed him off the boards.

"It was unreal," said Dave. "I didn't hear any warning. All I heard was him yell, 'You're out!'"

Dave then filed an official protest with Stan Wright, the meet referee, claiming Laird was receiving "unfair assistance" by members of the New York AC officials in the infield. "If I sound bitter," said Dave, "it's because I am. They were yelling times and position to him all through the race."

Laird, who has won the AAU walk 3 times in his 16-year career, tried to stay out of the discussion.

"I don't want to talk to him, not now," said Laird.

"He's likely to punch me in the mouth, I'm afraid of him." Later, after Romansky's protest was turned down, Laird tried to see Dave's side of things.

"In a race like that, anything can happen. I'm not even saying I was on the ground all the way," Laird explained. "But those things happen. I've been tossed out before... I know the feeling." Ah, well, this is the first of 11 senior walk titles this year. So this gives Laird a leg up so to speak.

It was a wild and whacky meet, and if anyone can figure out what really happened, you can call us collect.

The relays were a general hodge-podge of dropped sticks and trips and spills. And the officials cracked down and disqualified half a dozen people, which might be a meet record.

The crowd (15,134) screamed Frank Shorter into the second fastest indoor three mile in history. His 13:10.6 was eight-tenths of a second slower than George Young's world record. Kerry Pearce tried to hang with him for a while, but the last mile or so was a test to see how many people Shorter could lap.

"When I ran the 10,000m in Leningrad the crowd knew right away that I was going at a record pace and they cheered me all the way," said Shorter, the ex-Yalie who's currently a law student at Florida.

"The crowd yelled a lot here, but it was too late. If they would have yelled earlier--or if someone would have helped me out a little with the lead--I would have broken the record. It was going so easy."

Shorter, who has his eye on some Olympic gold next year, has a message he would like relayed to the Union of Florida. Please let the distance runners use the golf course. "We run on the roads, and it's OK, but sometimes at night the alligators come out," he says. "They have these sink holes around the campus, and the alligators go from one to another. You learn to keep away from them. They have slow and lazy ways, but they have that one quick move."

"That's how they get so many ducks. The ducks think they're slow and they get near them--and it's all over."

"The golf course would be great to run on, but we're not allowed to run on the thing. Tell them we promise we won't go on the greens or fairways."

Dear University of Florida: Please let the distance men use the golf course--before the alligators get them with that quick move.

LIQUORI SPARKLES AS CATS COP 5th STRAIGHT IC4A

Princeton, N. J., Friday, Saturday, March 5-6- The 50th annual IC4A gathering was staged in faultless style at Princeton's plush Jadwin gymnasium over a Tartan track. Perhaps the only gripes came from some of the 4,500 spectators. The Jadwin track is set far back from the stands and the surface is so spongy that the running is done in virtual silence. Teamwise, there was no stopping Villanova. The Wildcats' 42 points doubled the output of runners-up Pitt and Penn, who had 21 each.

Marty Liquori and Chris Mason played games in a 1-2 mile finish, as Liquori became the fourth man in the 50 years of the IC4A to win a third straight mile--the others being Villanovans Dave Patrick and Fred Dwyer, and Dr. Les MacMitchell.

HERB LORENZ IN SCINTILLATING FORM

Phila., Pa., Sunday, February 21- Herb Lorenz made the 1971 Senior Middle Atlantic AAU 20-Kilo Championship no contest as he took control early in the race & simply ran away from the field with a fast 1:02:41.6 clocking. He built up a gaping 1:03.4s margin at the finish over teammate Lou Coppens. It was Herb's first appearance in a number of weeks after what he calls "just a few solid weeks of training". The solid training amounted to two-a-day workouts covering 120 miles a week. He is looking for some fast marathon times this spring.

The race was sponsored by Braceland Brothers Printers of Philadelphia and was held in ideal 55° weather - a rare break from the cold & dull of recent races.

Course: Flat, out & back route over the East & West River Drives in Fairmount Park.

Knoxville, Tenn., February 21, 1971 2:15 P.M. - Grant Colehour, representing the Knoxville TC, came within 1:18 of Lou Castagnola's American 20 mile record of 1:46:00.4 when he went the distance in 1:48:08.7 to capture honors in the latest KTC long distance event held over the Cherokee Blvd. course in Knoxville. The former Eastern Kentucky distance standout ran shoulder to shoulder with P.J. LONG DISTANCE RUNS PREVENT CANCER, DOCTOR CLAIMS (Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from the German Tribune, a weekly review of the West German press, issue of February 11, 1971.)

Long Distance running can prevent death from cancer, according to sensational conclusions arrived at by Dr. Ernst van Aaken from Waldstat in the Lower Rhine area, published recently in a scientific magazine.

Starting from late Nobel Prize winner Otto Warburg's theory that respiratory damage is a cause of cancer, Dr. van Aaken set out to see whether constantly providing the body with more oxygen than it needed would prevent the start of cancer. Van Aaken found that normal people are far more likely to catch cancer than long distance runners in the same age range. He came across four cases of cancer in six years among the 454 members of a club for older long distance runners aged between 40 and 90. In a parallel survey of 454 normal male patients of similar age he found 29 cases of cancer during the same period. While 17 of these cases were fatal, all the long distance runners recovered from the disease and are running once again.

Dr. van Aaken stresses that the runners he examined formed no sort of human elite but were affected by sickness the same as anyone else before they embarked on this type of training. Seven had already had heart attacks and 14 had had circulatory disorders, some of them serious. But now that they run between three and five miles a day, nearly all of them are perfectly healthy.

In 1923 and 1924 Otto Warburg showed that the cancer cells in the metabolism did not breathe but gained energy by fermenting without oxygen (glycolysis) and spread. He turned normal cells from a mouse into cancerous cells within 48 hours by producing a 35 per cent oxygen shortage.

Van Aaken said that he supposed that an excess of hydrogen in the body was the actual cause of cancer. Regular long distance running, long distance swimming, rowing, cycling or skiing could together with moderation in caloric consumption (the ideal number is 1,700 a day) prevent an unnecessary accumulation of hydrogen and thus prevent cancer.

DCRRC TENTH ANNUAL WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY
MARATHON, BELTSVILLE, MARYLAND
February 14, 1971

The Washington's Birthday Marathon has been held for six of its 10 years on the Beltsville, Md. course under the sponsorship of the Beltsville Jaycees who give an unusual amount of support to this effort to promote Physical Fitness. This year they not only provided the usual scotches on the many turns, marked the course with wooden arrows, had police at the heavy traffic points, Rescue Squad ambulance on the course, post race meal and food gift, 55 trophies or merchandises (plus ten trophies for Masters), place to dress and shower, but had souvenir T-shirts for all contestants and free lodging.

The 1971 Marathon provided the largest field of competitors in recent years in the Metropolitan area with over 205 entries, 185 starters and 122 finishers. Undoubtedly, the very bad weather of cold and rain all week deterred out of town entries. There was a noticeable lack of out-of-town ranking runners as well as locally because of the injury or out of condition of the top five area runners: Eamon O'Neilly, Lou Castagnola, Bob Schaefer, Gar Williams and Steve Jackson.

The winner in 1971, running in his first marathon, in a respectable time of 2:29:58.4, in cold 34 degree and very windy weather, was Jack Fultz, formerly of the University of Arizona but now stationed in the nearby U.S. Coast Guard Station at Alexandria, Virginia. Fultz has won a number of shorter distance races in the Washington area, including his last ten previous ones. A 20-miler at Raston Va. in 1:57:26 on January 31st and a half marathon at Glen Dale, Md. in 1:10:18 on February 7th. The race was decidedly a three way affair among Fultz, Agustin Calle of Colombia, So. America, a member of the Pan American Marathon team of 1967 and now running in New York for the United AA, and freshman Justin Gobbins of Georgetown University. All three ran together for about 5 miles leading the pack with Calle & Fultz tied at the end of the 8 1/4 mile loop in 48:57 with Gobbins 1 1/2 miles back; at 17 1/2 miles Calle and Fultz clocked 1:39:05 with Gobbins 1 1/2 miles back. Fultz stopped to apply liniment, fell 100y back and Gobbins was 100y back with 5 miles to go. With about 1.5 miles to go Fultz passed Calle & went on to win easily in 2:29:58.4, 1:44 ahead of Calle (2:11:42). Gobbins was only 1 1/2 miles back of Calle.

Glen Ayres, a high schooler from Annapolis, Md. was sixth in 2:41:42. Ben Malkasian won the Masters award as he ran 2:58:38. Anna Mae Cooke became the first girl in the D.C. area to finish a marathon. She finished 91st in 3:41:01.

Jack Fultz is a real comer. His time is testimony to the really vicious weather the runners had to endure. The temperature was near freezing and the wind blew strong and continuously. It not only acted as a physical impediment to the runners but also carried away body heat faster than it was generated! The runners were dressed in motley sweat suits, shorts and caps to protect against the cold wind (the wind-chill factor was the equivalent of five degrees). One runner wore a gym shirt that said "Salvation Peace Health Through Jesus," another wore a leopard vest and a long green stocking cap. Yet another wore party hose.

When Fultz stopped to rub his cramping legs he said, "I thought I'd lost for sure." But when he started up again he felt very good & passed him with 1 & 1/2 miles to go. He crossed the finish line to a cheering crowd, ran to his car, put on some warm clothes, and blew his nose. The 22-year-old former University of Arizona track star, who runs 15 miles a day, won himself a trophy, a bowl of beef stew, a sandwich, and he hopes, an official U.S. Coast Guard shirt. "I had to iron the letters on this one myself," he said. "They wouldn't give me one to wear."

MAIL BAG- From Steve Martin, New York City
In response to Frank Greenberg's column, "Jogger's Corner"... I think it's a shame to have to set up different categories, "runner" and "jogger", and imply that a jogger isn't "honest" unless he adheres to a weekly program of some sort. I only run when I feel like it, and I never claim otherwise. I've never won a race, but I enjoy races because there are other people there I can run with. Attempts to limit the number of runners, on the basis of qualifying times as in the Boston Marathon, or on the basis of sex, can make people who qualify feel that they are part of the elite, but it seems to me that there should be room for everyone, without diminishing the credit to the winners and without having to set up special categories for the others.

month's altitude training, broke away mid-way through the race and handily defeated defending champion Rich Delgado. JOSE CORTES LEADS STRIDER SWEEP OF MAGAN 20 MILER

Redwood City, Calif., Jan. 27- Seemingly invincible on their home course, the Redwood City Striders swept the first three places in the Second Annual Eugene Magan Memorial 20 miler. For all those that have run it, they will contest that it's the roughest course in Northern California. A steep (1500 foot climb in 2 miles) fire-trail greets unsuspecting runners at about 12-13 miles through the race and this drops many out of the event. Front running Ray Darwin & Darryl Beardall had a sizeable lead at the top of the firetrail when both took a wrong turn and never made up the lost distance. Jose Cortes took over to win in a good time of 2:27:17, 2. despite mud dy trails over much of the run. A total of 77 runners finished the grueling run.

PETER DUFFY NIPS MEJIA IN CHANNEL TO LAKE 10-MILE RUN

Vallejo, Calif., Sat., Feb. 6 - West Valley's and Great Britain's Peter Duffy held off a fast-closing Alvaro Mejia to take a three second victory in the 10 mile Solano TC sponsored Channel to Lake Run. Duffy and Mejia ran neck and neck for seven miles and then Mejia was slowed by a stitch. He found himself about 100y behind with a little more than a mile to go. A fast closing Dutch wasn't enough however as both smashed the former record for the course by almost two minutes. Peter Fredriksson of Sweden held the old record of 52:14, set last year. Darryl Beardall took third for team winner Marin AC. Ray Darwin in third with a mile to go when he made a wrong turn (for the second week in a row) and finished out of the money.

VALPARAISO UNIVERSITY ATHLETES WIN IN PUERTO RICO INTERNATIONAL RACE

Two Valparaiso Univ. athletes captured the team title in an international 10-mile run for juveniles on Sunday, Feb. 7th at Coamo, Puerto Rico. Puerto Rico finished second and Canada third.

Gary Schroeder was the individual champion in the age 19 & under race, finishing with a time of 54:58. John Stivers hung on to finish third despite suffering arch trouble and cramps. The Crusader runners competed not only against Puerto Rico's and Canada's best young distance runners, but also against a rugged, hilly course, and intense heat and humidity. The temperature was in the 90's and the altitude varied from 1000-2000 ft. over the course.

Coach Ed Winrow, himself a veteran of the Open race there, accompanied the boys on their five day trip, financed by a local businessmen's fraternity in Coamo. Winrow was victorious in the 13 mile Open race in 1967 and '68, and placed second in 1969.

Over 30,000 people watched the race and the U.S. runners made an excellent impression on their hosts.

"The trip is the most interesting thing that's ever happened to me," Schroeder said. The 18-year-old, 120lb., 5'7" Michigan City, Indiana built up a lead of 120y by 7 miles over the Puerto Rican who placed second. When he turned to check his lead, Gary related that he heard a spectator yell, "Hey gringo, don't worry--you've got it made." Both runners emphasized that the people were tremendous. They were mobbed for autographs everywhere they went, and followed and kissed by the girls.

* Notes... Following the race Dr. Walter Borts reported on the autopsy given Jerry Nolan, 34, of Pitman, N.J. last Monday, following his death in last Sunday's race. He died of a heart attack. One of the arteries plugged with a clot. It was felt that his condition could have been inherited as his father died at an early age with the same condition (hardening of the arteries around the heart). A conjecture by Dr. Borts was that he might have died earlier if he hadn't been a runner due to his tendency to have heart trouble.
